WHY VISIT ALBANIA?

A place where everyone finds what is looking for. From the pure, white snow of the mountains to the red fields of spring poppies, Albania's landscape is ever changing with the seasons, offering visitors a warm summer beach holiday or a challenging mountain trek during the fall. Although small, Albania offers a diverse range of nature to explore.

There are many wonderful beaches, spectacular mountains, river valleys, large canyons, forests rich with flora and fauna, large and small lakes and many other surprises for visitors. The culture and history are also impressive and have much to offer to tourists. Butrint, located in the south of Albania, is part of the UNESCO World Heritage Program and is appraised as one of the most wondrous places on earth, full mythology and mystic atmosphere. The site lies in the center of a Mediterranean "jungle" and was built by in an ancient Trojan style. Two other Albanian cities are on the UNESCO World Heritage List, prominent for their specific architectural style: Berat and Gjirokastra.

Albania is proud to host a wide range of archaeological sites, Illyrian castles, medieval fortification, Byzantine churches and monasteries of the post-Byzantine period. Albania's living connection to its rich cultural heritage is also complimented by its commitment to keep in pace with a highly vibrant and contemporary life, echoing its spirituality and presence in the European cultural environment. On the most important assets of the country is its coastline, with a length of 450 km including lagoons and its two Adriatic and Ionian Seas. Albania is a land to be loved. In this small Mediterranean country, virgin nature and cultural mysteries come together to create a unique sense of place. In Albania, visitors are welcomed as guests as part of the country's rich cultural traditions and heritage.

ABOUT ALBANIA

With its favorable climate, that offers opportunities for many tourism activities, the diversified landscape, where are combined sandy and shallow beaches of Adriatic Sea with small and deep beaches of Ionian Sea, large and small Lakes, fields and river valleys, high snowy mountains, with an ancient history, rich with archaeological parks, castles, medieval monuments, cities with typical architecture, Albania is a tourist destination to be visited! Located on the Balkan Peninsula in southeastern Europe, Albania is located near to the main European markets and can be visited easily by air, land and sea. Albania lies in the subtropical belt and is included also in the Mediterranean climate, with relatively short and mild winter and hot and dry summer. The climate of Albania varies a lot from one region to another with big contrasts in terms of temperature, rainfalls, solar lighting, air humidity, etc.

The annual rainfall is averagely 1,430mm per year, decreasing from west to the east. It is believed that the prehistoric flow of Albanians is from a very ancient IndoEuropean tribe, which the Greek historian Herodotus described as the "Pelasgians". They are considered as direct descendants of an ancient Illyrian tribe called "Albans", who settled in today's Albania. Others believe that Albanians and Illyrians are direct descendants of the Pelasgians, who lived thousands of years before Christ.

Through this guide we aim to provide you practical information on our country, which will somehow come to your help during your travel and stay in Albania. This brochure contains information about the geographic position, population, history, climate, national parks, museums, coastline, forests, language, religion, most attractive tourist sites, information on border crossings points, etc. "The sun in Albania never sets and Albania will never fade as a tourist attraction."

RELIEF & CLIMATE Albania has an area of 28,748 km² and is distinguished for its diverse and magnificent terrain. A great part of the territory consists of mountains and hills, and 1/3 of the territory consists of lowlands that lie mainly in the western part of the country along the Adriatic coastline. The highest peak of the country is Korab Mountain, located in the area of Dibër. The mountain is 2,751 m above sea level. This impressive relief, with many fractures and microforms, is rich in hydric resources, forests and flora and fauna. Albanian nature offers many opportunities for various outdoor tourist activities. A visitor can experience the freshness of the mountain climate and the Mediterranean warmth of the coast all within a short time frame.

One of the biggest natural pleasures of Albania is the large amount of sunshine hours. Albania is one of the countries with the highest number of sunshine hours in Europe. The Albanian coastline is 450 km long (including numerous lagoons in the Adriatic sea) and offers great potential for tourism. The mountainous relief can offer spectacular landscapes and different tourist activities. The snow layers covering mountains lasts for several months, thus providing opportunities for winter sports fans. The relief of Albania is quite rich in rivers and lakes, which are very important and attractive spots for tourism and hosting various activities. The climatic conditions in Albania are suitable for guaranteeing a relatively long summer season of 5 months, which can be used for beach tourism. Summer is hot and dry and winter is mild and rainy. The average temperature in the coast is 17.5°C and in the mountains it reaches 7.5°C. The diversity of relief and climate offers endless opportunities for tourists to enjoy.

TOP REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD VISIT ALBANIA

Currently becoming one of the world's most sought-after travel destinations, Albania is growing fast to accommodate visitors but also staying true to its strong rural culture. From beautiful nature to the more modern urban attractions, there's so much to discover.

ALBANIA OFFERS A RICH TASTE OF THE UNSPOILED MEDITERRANEAN

Like its famous neighbor Greece to the south, Albania borders the glittering cerulean waters of the Adriatic and Ionian seas. The total length is about 476 km (296 mi). A rich span of coastline known as the Albanian Riviera boasts numerous quiet, undiscovered beaches all along the south of the country. You can easily enjoy some of the most beautiful beaches on the Mediterranean from Vlore, Sarande, and Dhermi. The water is exceptionally clean and clear and often a gorgeous turquoise color.

THE PERFECT CLIMATE

Albania has a high number of climatic regions considering its area, nevertheless the weather is mainly sunny with an average of 300 days of sun per year. April – June and September – November is a great time to go exploring the outdoors. Middle of May – Middle of September is the best time for beach holiday.

THE RURAL CULTURE IS STILL STRONG

Albania's big cities growing rapidly, but in its villages, the rural culture still reigns supreme, with many families taking care of their needs through their own garden and livestock. Don't be surprised to see shepherds walking around with a herd of sheep or cows grazing everywhere in the landscape.

THE AMOUNT OF ANCIENT HISTORY HERE IS STAGGERING

Having been occupied since pre-history, Albania has artifacts from thousands of years of some of the world's greatest empires. Wandering through any town here, you might just stumble across ancient ruins from the Romans, Greeks, Byzantines, Venetians, Illyrians, Ottomans, and more! History buffs will definitely love the rich width and depth of historical sites and cultural influences found in this region of the world.

ALBANIA PROUDLY BOASTS MULTIPLE UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITES

...including Butrint, an archeological site previously inhabited by the Romans and the Greeks, and Berat and Gjirokastra, two "museum cities" and fabulous examples of Ottoman architecture. Another protected area was declared a UNESCO property in 2019. Lake Ohrid, including the Albanian part, today has the attention and status of UNESCO. Other Albanian sites currently in the UNESCO candidacy stages include the Dures Amphitheater and Apollonia, all of which are now undergoing repairs, promotions, or renovations.

THE HISTORY IS FASCINATING

Albania is a country with an unfathomably long history, almost 5,000 years, with influence from Greeks, Illyrians, Romans, Venetians, Byzantines, and Ottomans. The country was under a tight communist rule for 47 years. It was the first all atheist country in the world in 1967 as all religion was banned in the communist era. If you want to learn more and gain a better understanding about history then don't forget to go on excursions.

ALBANIA'S MOUNTAINS ARE STUNNING

One of the most attractive and fascinating territories of the Albanian lands, with natural beauty and tourist assets, are the Albanian Alps. They are fantastic for hiking, and their peaks are breathtaking from every angle.

THERE ARE MANY BEAUTIFUL HIDDEN CHURCHES

On your way through Albania, you'll constantly see signs for historic monasteries and churches, and they are all quite lovely and set in remote areas. Make sure to visit some of these churches during your visit. We advise you to visit Ardenica Monastery. This magnificent little monastery is remotely located on a hilltop between the towns of Lushjë and Fier. Here you can see the fantastic interiors – particularly the iconostasis of saints and sinners, dragons and angels – of the 18th-century Church of St Mary.

THE PEOPLE ARE EXCEPTIONALLY FRIENDLY

Albanians are a very happy people who are very fond of visitors. So if you ever do get lost, don't be afraid to ask for help; there is always someone who speaks a little English who will be happy to guide you in the right direction.

AMAZING FOOD

With such a strong rural culture where everyone grows their own food, you can only imagine how fresh everything is. The seafood in Albania is also excellent, and with a distinct Italian influence, you'll probably end up eating one of the best seafood linguines of your life.

There is so much to discover outside the popular areas

Visitors may have discovered areas such as the Albanian Alps, Tirana, and the Riviera, but the country is so large that there's so much more to explore. Towns such as Korca, Permet or Pogradec are some examples of the not so well-known areas that are still waiting to be explored.

ALBANIA'S NATURE IS STILL PRISTINE

Albania is an excellent place for nature lovers who can find solace in mountains, forests, islands, beaches, and much more. And the best part is that nature still exists freely with wandering horses and grazing cows everywhere.

ALBANIA IS VERY SAFE

While tourism in Albania is just beginning, traveling Albania is just as safe as going pretty much anywhere else in Europe. You're less at risk for petty crime in Albania than you are in, say, Madrid, Barcelona, Rome, or Paris, and violent crime is extremely rare. Albanians pride themselves on their hospitality, so foreigners are welcomed here.

ALBANIA IS A COMPLETELY UNIQUE COUNTRY

You will never visit another country like Albania. It is a beautiful contradiction of charm and grit alike, celebrating its very own unique heritage and history. It proudly claims the ancestry of celebrities like pop singer Rita Ora, actors Jim and John Belushi, and Mother Theresa. Albania even has its very own branch on the language tree, completely unrelated to any other language on earth! This is a unique country reserved not just for travelers, but for adventurers.

Top destination

Albania for the years is among top destination to visit according Lonely Planet (2011), New York Times (2014), Harper's Bazaar UK (2019), etc. A number of renown international hotel chains are making their presence known in Albania like Hilton Garden Inn and Best Western in Tirana, Melia Hotels International in Durrës, while others are awaiting the green light to start operations mainly in Tirana, the Albanian Alps, and along the Albanian Riviera.

We are just waiting for you!

The dishes of Albania have their roots with the ancient Ottoman Empire. The combination of richly fertile land, proximity to the sea, and blurry cultural lines with their neighbors have culminated in a modern cuisine that is both diverse and simple. Modern day influences include Greece, Italy, and Turkey.

Meat and vegetables are the staple, along with heavy stews, pickled cabbage, feta cheese, breads, rice, and smoked meat. The most popular veg grown are eggplants, peppers, tomatoes, cucumbers, olives (which accompany most meals), and legumes. Very Mediterranean indeed! Vegetarians be warned. There are a lot of salads in your future – luckily, there's plenty of fresh produce to enjoy.

Regional Differences

When talking about food, travelers can divide the country into three regions.

In the north, the staple is ground corn. Not only is it used for most breads, it's also versatile enough to make both sweet and salty dishes. The climate is good there which means there is a variety of fresh vegetables and fruit. You'll see mostly potatoes, carrots, cabbage, kidney beans, onions, garlic, and walnuts. Traditional dishes in the north include meat and vegetable casseroles, pasta, chicken, rice, sjuduk (similar to salami), and petula (fried dough made sweet or savory). If you visit Shkoder, you'll be able to enjoy carp and acne dishes thanks to the many lakes and rivers nearby.

Central Albania has the kind of soil that can grow just about anything. Poultry features heavily in dishes here – duck, goose, chicken, and turkey are all raised here. Fishermen catch flounder, perch, gray mullet, and sole in the Adriatic Sea. You'll find egg, spinach, or cabbage cakes, nettle cakes, liver, and curd. Tave Elbasani is a highlight you won't want to miss. It's made by baking meat in yogurt.

Most of the cattle are raised in the southern region of Albania, which means that dairy products often take center stage in dishes. It's well known for fantastic hard and soft cheeses, as well as kefir so thick that you could cut it with a knife. The climate is warmer here and so you'll find citrus and olive groves throughout the area.

Other regions worth noting are the Berat region where you'll find the Balkans largest fig plantations. The fig jam and dried figs always makes popular gifts. Myzeqe produces turkey and Albanians say the turkey and mash (a kind of stew) is the best here. And along the Albanian Riviera you'll find fantastic seafood options year-round. Whatever you're in the mood for, you can be certain it was caught fresh that morning.

It's worth noting that most of Albania is mountainous – about 70% in fact. Those villages located in the higher elevations make use of animal organs. In many places, intestines and the head are considered delicacies.

Meat Dishes

Meat dishes are by far the most ubiquitous meal you'll find in Albania. The most popular are veal stew (ferges), roast beef in fermented milk sauce (rosto-misalche-kosi), cabbage rolls (sarma), and sheep pluck stuffed with meat and vegetables (kukurech). Almost all meat dishes are served with bread and/or rice, as well as some greens.

Fërgesë verore me specë dhe domate

Fërgesë is one of the tastier and best Albanian foods made with peppers, tomatoes and cottage cheese. You'll find it mostly in Tirana and surrounding areas, because it is a typical dish of the central region of Albania. The fresh products are cooked together and form a cream; it's perfectly accompanied by homemade bread.

Tavë Kosi

Another not-to-miss food to try in Albania is Tavë Kosi, one of the most beloved dishes by locals. It is typical of Elbasan, a city near Tirana, but you will find it everywhere in the country, from the mountain hamlets to the coastal towns. Tavë Kosi is a tasty quiche-like dish made with lamb, eggs and yogurt.

Qofte

Qofte, or grilled meatballs, is one of the most popular meat dishes of Albania. Generally qofte are seasoned with spices and mint and served with raw onion and salad. A variant of qofte is kernaçka, a different kind of meatball typical of Korça, one of the most important towns of Albania.

Fish

Local cuisine doubtlessly prioritizes landlocked trout, carp and acne from Shkoder and Ohrid Lakes. Sea-fish is used for cooking everyday dishes and is cooked to traditional receipt.

Vegetarian

Specë me gjize

Specë me gjize is one of the most colorful and tasty foods of the country, made with yellow, orange, green and red peppers stuffed with rice, cottage cheese and spices before being baked in the oven. It is a healthy choice and a great vegetarian dish too (Albanian gastronomy has plenty of veggie options, as you can see).

Pies / Byrek

The most famous food in Albania is byrek, a tasty salty pie made with filo pastry. You will find it everywhere in the country, in different sizes and types. One of the most famous is byrek with spinach, but the bars, trucks, pastry shops also sell byrek, often with gjize cheese or meat. All versions are just delicious!

Dinner appetizers

Fried Kaçkavall

Kaçkavall is a typical cheese used in the south of the Balkans as well as in the south of Italy. It is a yellow salty cheese usually served as entrée in the restaurants. The menus offer various options, such as kaçkavall salad and baked kaçkavall, but the best is fried kaçkavall, one of the most delicious dishes in the region.

Sweets and desserts

Trilece

Another excellent cake well known in Albania is trilece. The word comes from Spanish and means "cake made with three milks"; indeed, trilece is prepared with milk, cream and concentrated milk. Calling it "delicious" is not enough. Trilece is a pleasure for the palate and a fresh cake perfect for the warm Albanian days.

Gliko

It's a compote made from whole. Gliko is an important element of the local cuisine in Përmet and is made from many different fruits and vegetables, all grown locally by many of the valley's small-scale farmers. 'Walnut husk' gliko, made from whole green walnuts, is the most common style and other popular variations include white cherry, eggplant, wild fig, plum and apricot.

Drinks

The national drink is, without doubt, grape brandy, or Raki. Often home brewed, often powerful, you won't make it far without being offered a taste of national pride. Raki can be made from a variety of fruits such as blackberry, plums, mulberries, quinces and walnuts.

The "Korça" beer has innovatory adjuncts from the sphere of food safety along with traditional beer quality. It received the International Arch of Europe Award in Diamond Category in 2009 in Frankfurt, German. The drink is widely spread in Albania and also imported in a number of neighboring countries.

For non-alcoholic drinks, Albanians prefer Turkish coffee. You'll find it to be much stronger there than the rest of Europe. The Balkan presentation is called kafe turke and is made by brewing the ground and sugar together.

SOUVENIRS

Buying souvenirs to bring back for family or friends and to have as a reminder of the trip is one of the best parts of traveling. Albania has many touristy gifts, such as the typical magnets, postcards and t-shirts, but the land of the eagles also has plenty of unique souvenirs that you can only find here.

Bunkers

Albania has so many concrete bunkers that Albanians lost count. There have been cases of foreign citizens that purchased a real size bunker during the 90s like the one in Tirana Viti Zero movie. Nowadays, the only bunker you can buy in Albania is in the shape of an ashtray.

Albanian Flag

Albanians are proud of their country, that is why you can see flags everywhere. The original name of the country in Albanian is "Shqipëria", which means "the country of eagles". So, the eagle is depicted on both main signs of Albania – the flag and the coat of arms.

Skënderbeu paintings, statues, engravings

The image of the Albanian National hero is a crucial motif in numerous artworks from statues to paintings. Statues include Skenderbe on horse, standing, and bust while paintings are a reproduction of famous old paintings depicting war scenes and other moments. Wood engravings are valuable artworks.

Mother Teresa paintings and statues

The second most important personalities that Albanians take pride is Mother Teresa. Small statues and paintings of Saint Teresa of Calcutta are available in souvenir markets.

Cifteli

This traditional plucked instrument with two strings used in northern Albania and Kosovo. The name cifteli means even and it is related to the two strings. The instrument is available in various sizes and the smaller ones are used as ornaments.

Feste

Qeleshe, feste, plis are the words used in Albanian for the white wool hat that Albanians used to wear. Modern versions have the black two-headed eagle. Different regions of Albania have different models. The hat should always be white.

Handmade rugs and kilims

If you love handmade rugs, the old bazaar of Kruja is the place for you. With the exception of filigree artwork and traditional clothes, rugs and kilims are the most expensive souvenirs you can buy in Albania. They have beautiful colors and motifs and can be used also as wall art. Most have a red color, which is similar to Tibetan rugs. The color goes best on a white room or table as a main attraction. Wool is the main used material and it makes the rug durable and soft at the same time.

Traditional bags, wool socks

Traditional bags and socks are used for ornamental purposes. They are handwoven and have the same motifs and patterns seen in traditional carpets and kilims.

Traditional costumes

Traditional Albanian articles of clothing are rare artworks as they are handmade and include many details. There are more than 200 various types of traditional clothing and they vary depending on the region where they are used.

Filigree fine artworks

Filigree and silver processing are an ancient artwork among Albanians. It is silver, made with tiny beads or twisted threads, or both in combination, soldered together or to the surface of an object of the same metal and arranged in artistic motifs. You can notice them in souvenir shops. Filigree and silver processing include jewelry and replicas of other artworks.

Skënderbeu Cognac

A tourist cannot leave Albania without a bottle of Skenderbeu cognac on his bag. This is an original Albanian beverage and worldwide known brand. Price varies depending on the bottle size.

Raki

Albania is known to produce excellent raki, the traditional grappa found throughout the Balkan Peninsula. Customers can purchase the liquor in beautiful wooden bottles that are sold everywhere from traditional markets to department stores.

Olive oil

Albania is located in a perfect climate for growing olive trees. No wonder there are huge territories of olive plantations all around the country. That is why you can find fresh olives in most Albanian souvenir's shops.

Spices

Southern regions of Albania are overflowed with high-quality spices. They are various herbs, natural vinegar, garlic, parsley, mint, bay leaf, sweet basil, rosemary, sweet marjoram and other aromatic spices.

SHENGJIN

Rinas – Shengjin – 49 km

Shëngjin is a growing beach town located in Northwest Albania well known for its Adriatic coastline and tourist accommodations. Shëngjin is quickly becoming one of the must-see locations in Albania for those who looking for a relaxing getaway by the coast. Shëngjin's district has thousands of years of history that has provided this beach city with a unique Mediterranean culture. Home to some of the most historic and heroic moments in Albania's history, the Lezhë district has become well known for its history as much as its sandy coastline. This area used to be a part of the theatre of the game where the fates of ancient world were decided.

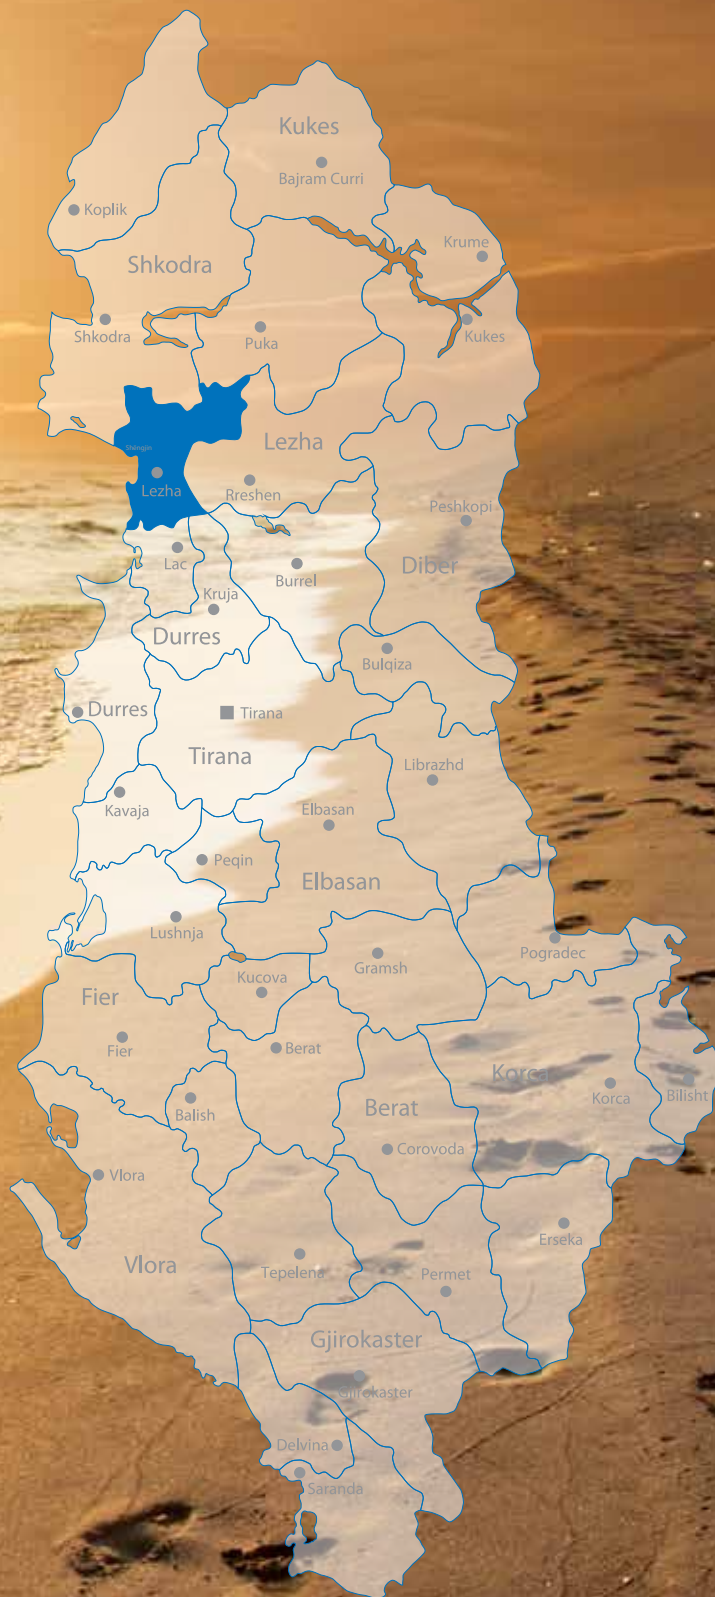

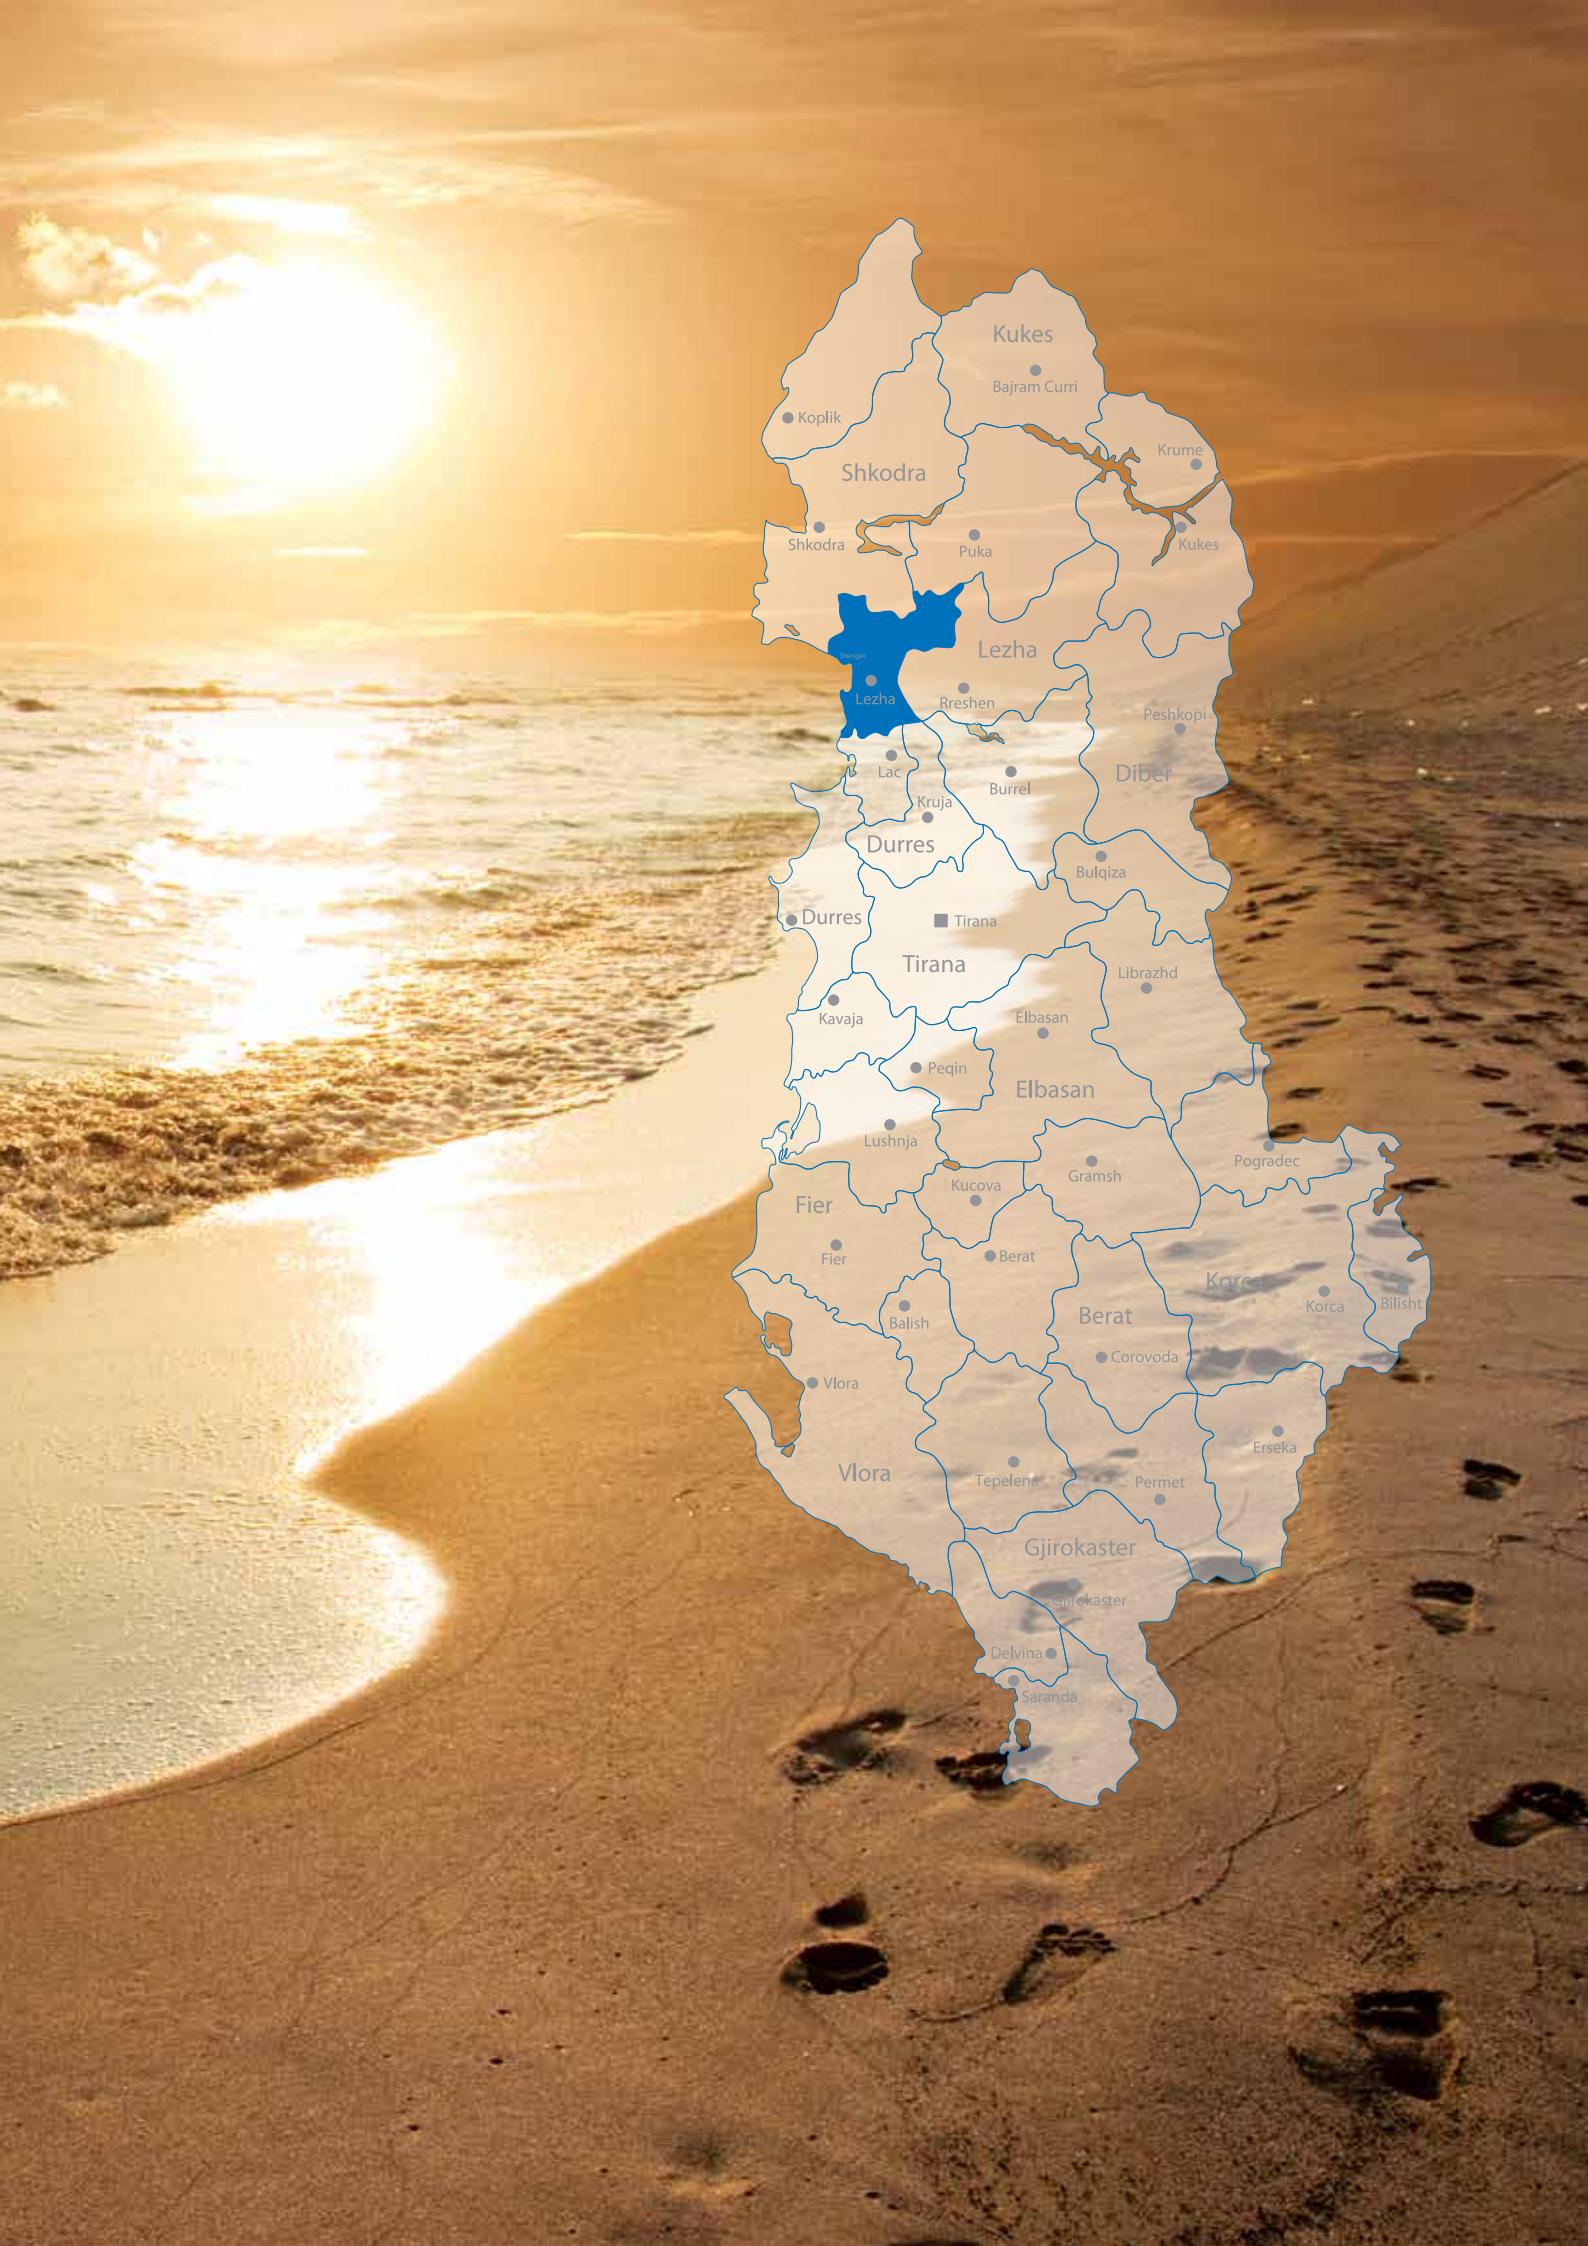

Near with the city perhaps for the first and last time in a lifetime you will see an entire mountain of ... sand! Rana e Hedhun. The winds blowing from the sea have formed a several – meter thick layer on the side of the mountain perched on a small bay. It is a wonderful place for swimming and bathing. When you visit there, for sure you will feel like spending any more hours. A sand mountain and an entirely crystal-clear sea: does it take more for one to enjoy your holiday?

BEST TIME TO VISIT, AND CLIMATE

The best time to visit Shëngjin is from may until september, when you will have a pleasant or warm temperature and limited till little rainfall. Shëngjin has 2 types of climates prevailing, namely the oceanic climate and mediterranean climate. The highest average temperature in Shëngjin is 27°C in july and the lowest is 5°C in december. The weather and climate of Shëngjin is suitable for a city trip.

The benefits:

- Close to Montenegro and the Balkan Alps
- Short transfer from airport (about 1 hour)
- Developed resort infrastructure
- The widest strip of the sandy beach in Albania (there is talk of magic sand, endowed with useful properties, rich of iodine and chromium)
- Long promenade for evening walks
- Nearby are places of glory of the Albanian national hero Skanderbeg – Lezha and Kruja

DURRES

Rinas - Durres - 28 km

A city peopled for more than 2,700 years, which was the birthplace of emperors, visited by apostles and other characters of the ancient world, full of legends and very old ruins, which are silent witnesses of a flourishing period, old stories that blend with the rhythms of modern life, broad beaches and mild climate, one of the biggest seaports on the Adriatic coast, the city of famous musicians and poets, old quarters alive with luxurious bars and modern high-rise blocks of flats, hospitable people always ready to welcome visitors and guests: these are what you will find in Durres, one of the most important tourist attractions across Albania.

BEST TIME TO VISIT, AND CLIMATE

Durrës is an enjoyable place in every season. Historical monuments, its boulevards, the hill and other tourist attractions are a pleasure to visit in autumn and spring. Of course, for beach-goers, the summer is the favorite season, but it is important to note that beach-lovers can enjoy sunbathing in Durres until as late as early October. The official tourist season opens in early May.

The climate in Durres is typically Mediterranean, with dry hot summers and mild wet winters. The average annual temperatures range from +25o Celsius in July to +10o Celsius in January. Average precipitation in Durres is about 1,000 mm per year. It is one of the sunniest places on the Mediterranean, with about 200 sunny days a year. The average air temperature is 18oC, and the average sea temperature is 22oC.

The benefits:

- Durres is the most popular resort in Albania, because Tirana and the only international airport of Mother Teresa is only 40 km away.
- A wide strip of sandy well-equipped beaches with a gentle entrance to the Adriatic Sea.
- The main embankment of the resort is called the Volga - imagine a long pedestrian line along the sea, from where a pleasant breeze breathes, cafes and restaurants are located nearby, offering dishes of various cuisines and street musicians performing Balkan motifs.
- Durres is one of the oldest cities in Albania, founded in the 7th c. BC. by the Greeks.
- Here is the largest Roman Amphitheater in the Balkans.
- One of the main attractions of Durres is the perfectly preserved walls of the ancient Byzantine city, dating back to 6th c.
- Nightlife - there are night clubs near the resort.

VLORA

Rinas - Vlorë - 146 km

One hundred and fifty kilometres of coastline (30 per cent of the total Albanian coastline), an ideal combination of blue seawater, white beach sand and green mountains, and hundreds of water sources, pristine forests, culture monuments, castles, churches and monasteries can be found only in Vlorë.

BEST TIME TO VISIT, AND CLIMATE

Spring and summer are the best seasons to really enjoy its beauties. The revival of colors in the spring, the lovely smell of flowers, which start to bloom as early as February, and the warm sun are three more reasons for you to visit Vlorë as early as the beginning of the year. In the summer you will find the shores of Vlorë full of holiday-makers from across the country and abroad. Autumn is another season with lovely days in Vlorë. This season is characterized by the traditional produce, transported to Vlorë from other smaller towns and villages around it. Even a mere lunch or dinner at the seaside in the autumn is an unforgettable experience. In winter, the end-of-the-year holidays and Llogara tourist resort and the lovely snow are good reasons to travel to Vlorë.

Vlorë has Mediterranean climate. It combines warm sea waters and fresh mountain air. Its mild climate, which gets even milder due to the special locations of Vlorë among high mountains next to the sea, prevent summer days from getting too hot and winter days from getting too cold. Thus, the average temperature of the coldest month (January) does not get lower than +9°C, while the average temperature of the hottest month (July) barely reaches +34°C.

There are 120 sunny days a year in Vlorë. So, one-year records 2,741 sunny hours, with 111 hours in December and 375 in July. All these features make Vlorë the town with the biggest number of sunny days a year.

The benefits:

- In Vlorë, the Adriatic and Ionian Seas meet each other, the most diverse beaches in Albania: sandy and pebbly, allowing you to experience the unique charm of the Albanian Riviera
- The coastal strip of the Vlorë district is the longest in Albania (about 30% of the total coastline in Albania)
- Vlorë has the longest embankment in the Balkans - "Lungomare" - 7 km long. Here were installed benches, where you can not only connect to the free Internet, but also charge the phone. In the evenings, various recreational activities take place on the embankment, including concerts.
- In Vlorë district there are a lot of wild beaches.
- Vlorë is located just 72 km from Italy (through the Strait of Otranto, the closest point to Italy in the Balkans).
- In the city of Vlorë was proclaimed the independence of Albania in 1912.
- Vlorë district is rich in natural and historical landmarks. The oldest monuments in Vlorë belong to the period of antiquity and date back to the 6th century BC.

THE ALBANIAN RIVIERA

is a place where the sun stretches across the deep sea, where there are splendid configurations of rocky and isolated small beaches, and the mountains and hillsides are covered in Mediterranean vegetation with charming villages constructed between the mountains and sea.

The Albanian Riviera
is blessed with 300 days of sun.

The average temperature in January is 10 degrees C.

and the average temperature in July is 25 degrees C.

The Ionian coastline is known for having fascinating beaches with deep and very clean waters. Younger crowds tend to visit the Ionian beaches as the area offers many opportunities for those interested in water sports like diving, boat tours, etc.

Some of the most exotic and interesting beaches in the south of Albania are Dhërmi, Jal, Himara, Qeparo, Borsh, Saranda and Ksamil.

From the Llogara Pass, which is 1,057 meters above sea level, the breathtaking coast can be seen as if from the vantage point of an airplane.

SARANDA

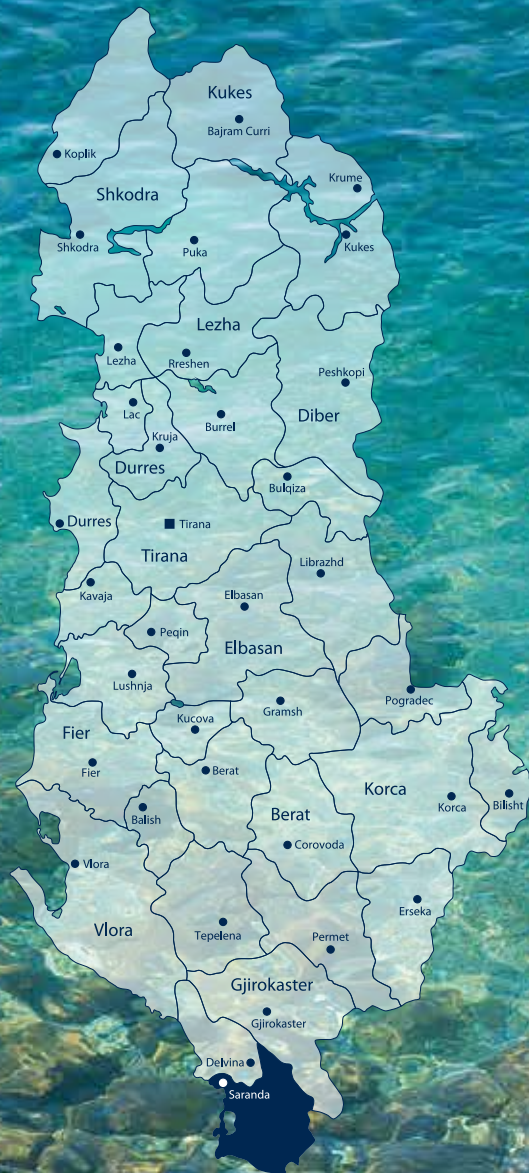

Rinas – Saranda – 274 km

Has it often happened to you to admire antiquity and its ruins, the blue waters of the Ionian Sea, a marvellous climate and the hospitality of people, all at the same time? Has it ever happened to you to set foot on the same grounds where centuries ago the Aeneas' legend was created, on a city described in famous Cicero's works, and from where the Ottoman sultans plotted to invade the shores across the sea? Certainly, not. It is Saranda and its suburbs, the southern - most extremity of the Albanian coastline, which offers this opportunity. Visitors come to marvel at the special beauty of this area once they land in Saranda, of which beach lies in a very small bay across Corfu, at a distance of 5 miles from it only.

BEST TIME TO VISIT, AND CLIMATE

It is worth visiting Saranda at each time of the year. It should be borne in mind that Saranda has 300 sunny days all around the year. Hence, both the summer season that lasts until the month of September and often until October, and spring and autumn are a very good time to be spent by the Ionian at Saranda. The tourist season starts officially on 15 May and lasts well into September. If visitors happen to be there in wintertime, then they will have all the time in the world to immerse into the special atmosphere surrounding visits to numerous historical monuments in Saranda. Saranda has very mild winter, allowing visitors to follow the itineraries developed commonly for tourists in summertime, to take a trip to nearby Corfu, or take time to enjoy talking to the very pleasant people from this area.

The climate in Saranda is referred to as a local steppe climate. During the year, there is little rainfall in Saranda. The average temperature in Saranda is +22.5 °C. During the month of May and October you are most likely to experience good weather with pleasant average temperatures that fall between +20° C and +25° C. In a year, the average rainfall is 592 mm.

The benefits:

- Local Cannes - a prestigious, therefore more expensive resort on the Ionian coast.
- More developed resort infrastructure and more entertainment program.
- Here is the warmest sea with pebble beaches.
- For gourmets - the most delicious and varied seafood, mussels are grown almost year-round.
- Located opposite the Greek island of Corfu with a daily ferry service, most closely located to the mainland of Greece.
- In this part of the Albanian Riviera, active recreation is more developed, incl. diving.
- Saranda is close to one of the Unesco's world heritage -Gjirokastra, where the local dictator Enver Hoxha was born.

KSAMIL

Rinas – Ksamil – 288 km

Ksamil is a village and a former municipality in the Riviera of Southern Albania, and part of Butrint National Park. The municipal unit consists of the villages Ksamil and Manastir. The proper coastal village, built in 1966, is located south of the city of Sarandë off the road to Butrint.

Ksamil is one of the most frequented coastal resorts by both domestic and foreign tourists. Ksamil Beach and Albania's Ionian Coast further north was included in The Guardian's 20 of the best bargain beach holidays for 2013.

The Ksamil Beach is situated 15 kilometers away from the city of Saranda. The stretch of beach is covered with pebbles. The crystal-clear sea, and particularly, the islets that may be reached by boats, motorboats and even by swimming over there, are of rare beauty. You can enjoy Paradise beaches offering white sand and crystal-clear water with a Mediterranean climate year-round.

The benefits:

- The local Maldives: the purest turquoise water, the shore covered with a white shell rock wiped out in the sand, and the equipped beach.
- The Ksamil area is surrounded by three small islands, covered with Mediterranean vegetation and surrounded by marvelous marine flora and fauna.
- By renting a catamaran, you can reach the wild beaches on small islands nearby.
- The fastest way to Unesco's world heritage - archaeological museum-reserve of Butrint.
